

Saucy Style

Say hello to the Mercury Mesquite BBQ chicken bacon sulfide club fiesta rhinestone clutch, an exclusive couture-cuisine experience from legendary designer Alfonce de la ¥Ø‰§.

With 8 genuine Andromedan rhinestones and 4 strips of thick-cut free-range bacon, the Mercury Mesquite BBQ chicken bacon sulfide club fiesta rhinestone clutch may be our juiciest accessory yet.

Now That's Fresh.

Available for a limited time at Fresh Queen™

as necessary! We kindly ask the editors to consider that such establishments have no place in any of our societies. Any “educational content” produced by the management of the likes of Neupfon Daughters Orchards is unfit for publication.

It is clearly promoting inhumane practices to an audience too young to know exactly why all of our meat is grown in the labs, and why all of our field and home helpers are semi-autonomous robots! Someone with no knowledge of the suffering of a farm could read an article like Your Best Friend Has Been Waiting For You and think, “oh, here is a glorious thing, a palace for gorgeous, clever creatures! To thrive, to frolic – to be mine, whenever I damn well feel like it.” This is a disgrace.

We kindly remind the editors that publishing this type of material without obviously drawing attention to its promotional and exploitative nature is the reason that your magazine finds itself in such a precarious position, and is forever embroiled in unnecessary controversy!

Respectfully,
Bethaniel Ose, Lr.S.
Dr. TtO. Iridet Eu-Wem
TtO. Fheskurt Rphsi, Lr.S.
On behalf of the AVeMineRi
Intergalactic Academy

To our esteemed readers from the Intergalactic Academy of Animal, Vegetable, and Mineral Rights: we have chosen to respond to your letter with the following excerpt from your predecessors, the esteemed Dr. TtO. Lr.S. et-ceteras from a few generations ago, who have written to our predecessors regarding a brief announcement we had published upon the founding of Neupfon Daughters Orchards:

“This is an affront to the noble art of journalism, to give a platform to an organization which is so frighteningly poised to destroy the natural balance and hierarchy between the species.”

You see, dear colleagues-in-our-collective-search-for-truth, all organizations change over generations, but nothing escapes a kernel of truth. In the 130 or so years of your operation, you have been steadfastly against the Neupfon Daughters Orchards, and most other non-academic organizations practicing lab cultivation of animal, vegetable, and mineral matter. It is almost as if you resent the decentralization of access to this technology, which the Orchards made possible through their clever and cunning – and only slightly legal, of course – replication of your patented technology.

So, you see, we now find ourselves at a loss! Of course, we do agree that the current practices of the Orchards are horrifying. On the other hand, so is the feeling of agreeing with you! And yet, none of this stops us from publishing either the “article” from the Orchards management, or your letter.

Perhaps you are right and some gentle soul will be fooled that this place – one that is surrounded by a mile’s radius of roars and howls and yelps and the goading of vicious drunks – is a “palace” or a “glorious thing.” Or, perhaps, our reputation does precede us – thank you for your concern on this matter, by the way – and the rest of our esteemed readers know that few things are what they say they are, and nothing can be understood without listening.

Respectfully,
Anonymous Volunteer
Editors of Secondsun
Reflections (t+212)

♦

Dear Editors,

I was sad to see that the last five issues have had more advertisement and fewer children’s puzzles and activities. As someone raised on your wonderful publication, I would like to continue to share the magazine with my daughter.

We here on Dehho-7 who grew up with those activity pages understand that you are a volunteer organization that gives freely what is freely given, so we put together a small collection that we think our kids – and perhaps others

Saucy Style

Say hello to the Mercury Mesquite BBQ chicken bacon sulfide club fiesta rhinestone clutch, an exclusive couture-cuisine experience from legendary designer Alfonce de la ¥Ø‰§.

With 8 genuine Andromedan rhinestones and 4 strips of thick-cut free-range bacon, the Mercury Mesquite BBQ chicken bacon sulfide club fiesta rhinestone clutch may be our juiciest accessory yet.

Now That's Fresh.

Available for a limited time at Fresh Queen™

as necessary! We kindly ask the editors to consider that such establishments have no place in any of our societies. Any “educational content” produced by the management of the likes of Neupfon Daughters Orchards is unfit for publication.

It is clearly promoting inhumane practices to an audience too young to know exactly why all of our meat is grown in the labs, and why all of our field and home helpers are semi-autonomous robots! Someone with no knowledge of the suffering of a farm could read an article like Your Best Friend Has Been Waiting For You and think, “oh, here is a glorious thing, a palace for gorgeous, clever creatures! To thrive, to frolic – to be mine, whenever I damn well feel like it.” This is a disgrace.

We kindly remind the editors that publishing this type of material without obviously drawing attention to its promotional and exploitative nature is the reason that your magazine finds itself in such a precarious position, and is forever embroiled in unnecessary controversy!

Respectfully,
Bethaniel Ose, Lr.S.
Dr. TtO. Iridet Eu-Wem
TtO. Fheskurt Rphsi, Lr.S.
On behalf of the AVeMineRi
Intergalactic Academy

To our esteemed readers from the Intergalactic Academy of Animal, Vegetable, and Mineral Rights: we have chosen to respond to your letter with the following excerpt from your predecessors, the esteemed Dr. TtO. Lr.S. et-ceteras from a few generations ago, who have written to our predecessors regarding a brief announcement we had published upon the founding of Neupfon Daughters Orchards:

“This is an affront to the noble art of journalism, to give a platform to an organization which is so frighteningly poised to destroy the natural balance and hierarchy between the species.”

You see, dear colleagues-in-our-collective-search-for-truth, all organizations change over generations, but nothing escapes a kernel of truth. In the 130 or so years of your operation, you have been steadfastly against the Neupfon Daughters Orchards, and most other non-academic organizations practicing lab cultivation of animal, vegetable, and mineral matter. It is almost as if you resent the decentralization of access to this technology, which the Orchards made possible through their clever and cunning – and only slightly legal, of course – replication of your patented technology.

So, you see, we now find ourselves at a loss! Of course, we do agree that the current practices of the Orchards are horrifying. On the other hand, so is the feeling of agreeing with you! And yet, none of this stops us from publishing either the “article” from the Orchards management, or your letter.

Perhaps you are right and some gentle soul will be fooled that this place – one that is surrounded by a mile’s radius of roars and howls and yelps and the goading of vicious drunks – is a “palace” or a “glorious thing.” Or, perhaps, our reputation does precede us – thank you for your concern on this matter, by the way – and the rest of our esteemed readers know that few things are what they say they are, and nothing can be understood without listening.

Respectfully,
Anonymous Volunteer
Editors of Secondsun
Reflections (t+212)

♦

Dear Editors,

I was sad to see that the last five issues have had more advertisement and fewer children’s puzzles and activities. As someone raised on your wonderful publication, I would like to continue to share the magazine with my daughter.

We here on Dehho-7 who grew up with those activity pages understand that you are a volunteer organization that gives freely what is freely given, so we put together a small collection that we think our kids – and perhaps others